The ISO 45001 Transition Training is a one day course that is designed in an interactive workshop format to give the participant a thorough overview of the Occupational Safety and Health Management System. In particular, the course will cover the specific changes from the OHSAS 18001 to the ISO 45001 which was released as a final draft in 2018. This training will not only provide the participant with an understanding of the ISO 45001 specific elements but will also include table-top exercises designed to reinforce the learning. Each participant will receive a certificate at the conclusion of the training that will serve as a valuable credential in transitioning from the OHSAS 18001 to the ISO 45001:2018 Standard.

This training will be facilitated by Eagle Certification Group who is a Nationally recognized Registrar for certifying management systems among companies. This will give each participant a particularly interesting and valuable insight from an actual Certifying Body perspective!
